CHAIR REPORT

8-3-2024 Hengelo

Dear fellow addicts and Groups of the Anonymi Foundation,

Last June we had another annual gathering of the Fellowship Service Conference for N.A. in Hamburg PA. Our secretary and co-secretary did a great job working on the minutes so it's time to get them out for the Groups to go over and review them. We will put a link to the website where you can download the minutes and share them with your Groups.

Firstly we would like to thank Linda from Sweden for serving as our previous secretary. She couldn't make it this year so Matte B. our co-secretary had to step up. He is now elected as our Conference Secretary and Daniel from Nebraska has been elected as our Co-Secretary. Thanks to Mickey for bringing the projector that we used for the Conference and to our friend Ray D for taking care of the meals and the kitchen crew. We know he always does a great job to keep everyone fed. Someone we should also mention is Phyliss, she helped Ray in the kitchen and arranged the group picture. All these efforts helped contribute to a great weekend.

We further would like to thank every person that showed up and participated for making this gathering another great weekend, and the Historical Perspective Group for hosting the event and renting the facility. This year we had 9 Groups participating in the voting process. It was good to see some more participation from overseas as the issues that were addressed mostly concern all the Groups of the Anonymi Foundation worldwide.

We started with the Group Reports that are all included in the minutes. Our friend from Iran gave a brief report through Zoom that has also been transcribed in the minutes.

One of the major themes was the report of the Anonymi Agent who shared where we are at with the legalization of the foundation. At this Conference the Groups voted for the Agent to proceed his research and report back to the Groups. This is important because without direction from the Groups we cannot proceed. There are questions from Groups that couldn't be answered at this point. So further information will be put out when possible.

There was a talk about attendance rate this year and how we need more people to show up to be able to break-even. We think it's worth mentioning here because our treasurer told us we ended just up in the green, also because of donations. We would like to give special thanks to the Groups and members that chipped in a little extra money to make sure the Conference went smoothly. Another positive, we got to see new members show up and introduce them to what we do as Groups to communicate and how we direct our services. Hopefully next year we can get more people excited to come over and attract them to what we do.

As always we would like to remind the Groups to give their input on the motions and proposals as early as possible. We encourage the Groups to communicate with each other and optimally, the motioning Groups have some weeks to process the input. The Agenda for next year's Conference will be put out in January and registration forms are available at www.nahelp.org. If there's any questions feel free to contact us.

See you next year!

Motion for ASIS to maintain a stock pile of $5000 worth of literature and phone number where groups can order literature. For this to happen ASIS would have to rent storage space and assign a trusted servant to receive and fulfill the orders.
The trusted servant assigned would need to be given access to our current printing company. This could evolve into a service center as we grow. Passing this motion in no way precludes the inventory of literature to growing beyond $5000 amount

The Importance of Writing Articles

I remember when I first started learning about NA history and found Radio Free NA. It was like a whole new world opened up to me. At that time there was a lot going on in NA and in the world because it was during the pandemic. There was also a lot of interaction on Radio Free NA from addicts all over the world. I remember feeling timid about posting because I didn't know much and didn't want to make a fool of myself. My sponsor nudged me to post more and make myself visible, he even gave me a quota of 5 posts a day to fulfill. I thought that was insane, I didn't see how that was even possible at the time.

Around this time I saw the New/Old NA Way magazine posted on Radio Free for the first time and was so excited. I had no idea there was a magazine being written by addicts for addicts. I remember reading through the articles one day on break at work and I came across an article called One Addicts Experience With Becoming Totally Abstinent. I read it and it hit me and everything changed after that. I read about how important being clean off all mood changing drugs, even medications was for an addict to find recovery. I was already completely abstinent from a couple of years of trial and error in NA with going to doctors and finding myself in the same altered state again and again. My girlfriend at the time, however, was not yet completely abstinent, as she had been on prescribed medication since she was a teenager and no one had ever told her that if she wanted the NA Program to work for her that she would have to get off of them. I see this happen too much in today's NA. There is so much fear with most addicts involving our message that it becomes watered down to "your clean if you say you are". Where is the care or love in that? This article that I read helped me to see that if I loved her I needed to care enough to tell her the truth, even if that meant taking the chance that she would hate me or leave me. I saw for the first time that her life and recovery depended on it. Had an addict not had the willingness to write that article, I don't know if I would be writing this article today. That's how big of an impact writing an article can have.

As I started posting on Radio Free more and more, by the direction of my sponsor, he started suggesting that I write articles about things we would talk about on the phone. We would get into a discussion about one topic or another regarding our message or how the Home Group carries it and would end up saying, "sounds like you have an article to write!". Every time I felt this extreme resistance to doing what was suggested but every time I wrote the article I felt this relief afterwards and this feeling that I did something worthwhile. Then I started seeing the replies to the articles from addicts around the world and it made me see how important it is that we share our experience with others because they need to hear it, read it and see it. It also always feels good to see your article in the magazine when it is finished.

I'm writing this article with the intent to recommit myself to this process of writing articles and to hopefully inspire others to share their experience. When we have experience on this Program we have a responsibility to share it with others and that takes time and sacrifice. I can't imagine where my life would be today had I not had that encounter with another addict's honest writing about their experience with becoming totally abstinent and that's what motivates me today to write and share my experiences. I hope some others will join us and bring the New/Old NA Way back to life!

The Growth We Get When We Serve

This year was my fifth year at the Fellowship Service Conference. This year's conference gave me some perspective on what can happen when we continue to show up and don't make excuses. The first year I attended, if any, was my opportunity to get out of going to the FSC. That was the covid year where the conference had to be moved to Atlantic City because of the government lockdowns and restrictions. That year I thought for sure that it would get canceled, but no. I found out that there were addicts who took "No Matter What" seriously. I was told sternly by my sponsor that he expected to see me in Atlantic City. There were a lot of obstacles preventing me from thinking it was possible for me to go, but I went anyway. If I hadn't gone that year, who knows if I would have made it any other year. Sometimes I really think this disease is that serious. Sometimes, maybe all the time, we only have this day, hour or moment to choose recovery over fear because a single decision can alter the course of our lives.

That year in Atlantic City I felt so out of place and nervous to be in that setting with other addicts because of my own insufficiencies but I loved what I saw . I saw addicts who took service for NA seriously and were willing to give up their time and well-being to keep this fellowship growing and making sure that it didn't get short-circuited by fear and excuses. There was a lot of heated discussion on issues but I never felt like it was hostile. I felt that addicts were passionate about what was happening. This made me feel intimidated about the idea of being active in the conference on a personal level. I was fearful because I was self-conscious but it also excited me to be part of it. I left that conference filled up spiritually and it changed my recovery. Like many other times in my recovery, I can't imagine what would have happened had I not gone. What would I have filled my time doing? What condition would my spirit have been in? When we experience the difference that one of these experiences can have it's scary to think about missing out.

After that conference I was suggested to write an article on my experience and by that point I was more than happy to do so. I had such a great adventure that weekend and wanted to share my excitement. After that I was already looking forward to the next year's conference. Some issues arose that year with our Home Group and we had some things that dwindled our Group down to me and my girlfriend, who is now my wife. We were extremely ostracized and felt like we were under a spiritual attack but we had enough support on radio free and with addicts around the world that we believed that if we persevere that we would grow eventually. That next year, which would have been 2021, the two of us attended the conference alone.

This year, after the conference, it dawned on me how much has changed since that first conference I attended. This year I was serving as secretary after being co-secretary last year and have been much more of an active part of the conference and the open forum discussions. I don't have the fear I had when I first got here. I can be in heated discussion without losing my composure and taking things too personally. Also we had around 8 or 9 addicts come with us the last two years. This includes our Group members and a new Group that has formed as a result of our Group. This has happened over the course of 5 years of consistency in recovery and in Home Group service and by vigilantly protecting our message. We are proof that this works when we don't make excuses, are consistent and serve by the example of others.

Family and the FSC

2024 was the third year I've been to Hamburg to join the Fellowship Service Conference. Every year seems to have its own theme as where I'm at in my own recovery. This year was definitely family. Family means different things to different people. For me, I have always craved the love of my biological family. I was taught growing up they were the only people who would always be there. That's where our secrets are kept and yet somehow not talked about. These are the people we rely on.

As I am learning about spiritual principles in my step work, my vision of family has changed. Family includes those people who are honest with you, those who give you empathy while not enabling. It's a group of people with the same underlying values, those people who challenge you to be better, those people you lean on to feed your soul. I choose to call those at the FSC my family. Coming to the FSC is like coming home for me. And I realized it quite literally was like coming home.

While at the FSC in Hamburg I learned that my ancestors originated in the area less than 20 miles from where the conference was held. I got to see my 13th great grandfather's memorial stone. This was a place I never knew existed until this year. With losing my only sister in November, family has new meaning to me. Yes, I still find my family, my ancestry, my biological family important, but I have an even more meaningful family now. That craving of acceptance, love, and belonging that I always wanted, I've finally found in NA. Those people who understand me, those people who do love me unconditionally, those people who celebrate each other, those people that God gave me to call family. Those people who believe we don't need any drugs in order to live today, those people who believe in a pure message, those people who want to help others the way I've always dreamed, those who believe that helping other addicts shouldn't come with a price tag. I am those people and they are me. My life has changed so much since meeting this group of recovering addicts. I'm so incredibly grateful for the family I've found in the fellowship and the home I've found in NA.

FSC

I had the opportunity to attend the FSC once again this year for the third time and it was just as great as the previous two. It's only a three day event but there is a lot to take in. I have met some amazing people there and more continue to show up each year. I seem to gain a better understanding of how the different groups work together so we can continue to carry the message of Narcotics Anonymous. The FSC gives me a lot of hope for NA and I know we all bring this hope back to our home towns. I also gain a better understanding of just how important our home group is, but no more important than any other group. It has fueled me to become more involved with my home group, each year I feel more and more connected with these members and the fellowship as a whole. I see how the members with decades clean have continued to keep coming back and stay involved with service for this pure message of recovery to continue to be carried to the still sick and suffering addict like myself, it has truly saved my life, and I want to give this away as well. Overall the weekend was just what I needed, we came together and had meetings, we all helped prepare the food, we made sure everything was cleaned up after and probably left the facility cleaner than what it was when we arrived, and hopefully we all got a better understanding of how to carry a pure message of recovery.

One Person's Look

What Is The Narcotics Anonymous Program?

What Is The Narcotics Anonymous Fellowship?

Narcotics Anonymous (NA) is a program of complete abstinence from all mind- and mood-altering substances. NA is also a set of principles written so simply they can be followed in one's daily life. The most important thing about these principles is that they work if applied.

The Narcotics Anonymous Program stands autonomous and is not affiliated with any other organizations. NA is not connected with any political-, religious- or law enforcement - ideologies and its events are not surveilled.

The Narcotics Anonymous Program consists of: The Twelve Steps, The Twelve Traditions, meetings and service. All else is not NA.

The people that follow the NA Program are a diverse fellowship of men and women for whom drugs had become a major problem in daily life. The fellowship meets regularly in many places and times to help each other to remember how to apply the principles embodied in the NA Program. There is only one requirement for inclusion into this fellowship: a desire to stop using.

This Fellowship is not interested in what one used, how it was used, or how much was used, only what one desires to do about the problem/s that have stemmed from using. Regardless of color, creed, religious following, sexual orientation or any other societal norm, a desire to change one's attitude and action in one's life is all that this fellowship asks. The fellowship helps each other to live manageably in the society in which they live their daily lives.

The fellowship helps one to remember what is always essential in a manageable productive life. Individuals return to society refreshed, with a vigilance to continue recovering the core of human existence.

The Slow Death of a Friend

I've got a friend that has been on life support for a while. I can't say I've been the best friend. Lately, I've not visited as often as I should. I let the idea that my friend is basically dead keep me from coming around. Watching as fewer and fewer visit makes one lose hope. If I am truly a good friend, I will not let others' actions keep me from visiting.

When I first met this friend, the relationship was forced upon me by my Sponsor. My Sponsor said that by visiting them that others would be there seeking recovery and it would help me get closer with them also. I grudgingly went along and visited 5 times a day despite not wanting to. At first, I sought easy visits. I'd stop in for a bit just to see if any prayers were needed, or if any birthdays were being celebrated. Eventually, I started to see the beauty of visiting. I started to take in everything that was shared and started encouraging others to visit more often.

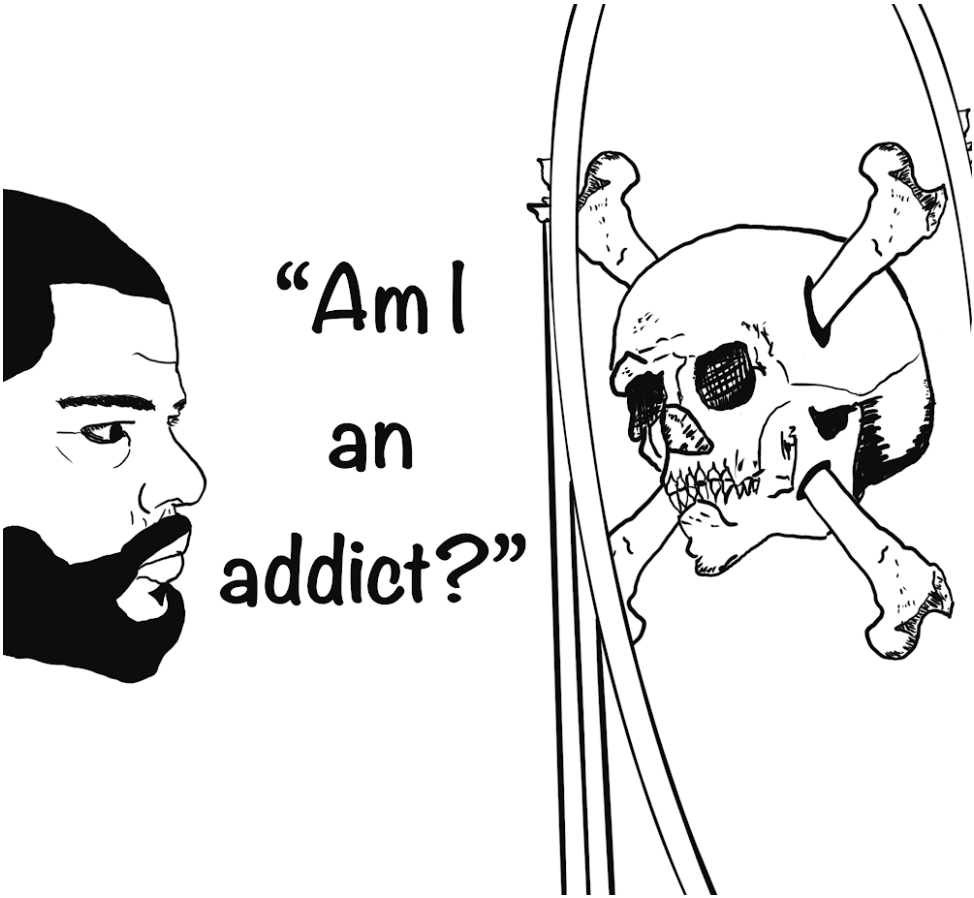

Covid happened and more and more people seemed to have time to visit. My friend was living to the fullest ever with all the company. Addicts shared their stories of success as well as what troubles they had. We supported one another each day which helped our recoveries grow. For someone like me that is isolated and has been told things like "you're not an NA member" "You're Group is not NA", etc by local members of NA visiting my friend was a refuge in a dark world. I knew I was not alone as addicts from all over the world came to visit. Addicts from places like: Sweden, Holland, Germany, England, Russia, and all over the USA.

The world went back to normalcy or at least closer to it, and more and more addicts quit visiting. It seemed that there wasn't enough time with now having local meetings and life happening once again. It took a while but eventually my friend was not doing so well anymore. He went from having over 3000 conversations between addicts to less than 400 last month. I watched as he withered away day by day. Eventually, I gave up and quit visiting daily also. It hurt so much to see my friend dying a slow death. Once so vibrant and full of life to be seen as a shell of what could be. I wondered how much more he could take. He has the most knowledge of NA history of anywhere I have ever gone, but here the excitement was now gone.

I won't give up on my dear friend. I am back to visiting daily and hope others will come join in on the communication board at radiofreeNA@groups.io so that we can grow together supporting one another so my friend radiofreeNA doesn't die.

FSC Trip 2024

Was another exciting trip to the FSC this year. I was driving and had time to enjoy lots of the beautiful landscape of America. Drove through a state of Squawkeyes, then the Monsters of the Midways state, then Hoosiers and finally made it to the state of the Buckeyes where we celebrated 20 years clean at TWIO Group. Unfortunately, the speaker that was to show the internet wasn't working so we had someone that was there speak instead. It was great that they stepped up on short notice and we had a beautiful celebration with lavender cream cheese carrot cake at the end. 2 addicts drove all the way from Nebraska to be there. It was very special to be around other addicts celebrating what we can do while understanding it wasn't possible without the WE of the program. TWIO Group sponsoring the event made it special as that Group has been like a home away from home where it is great to see addicts coming together in unity of message and purpose.

The next day it was time to hit the road again and off to Philly to pick up an addict for the FSC from the airport. On the way there we drove through Nittany Lion country and another addict rode with. It was good to have conversations talking recovery for a long drive as those long drives help us get to know each other better. For a good part of the trip the radio quit working which was great as there were no distractions keeping us from talking. We had our regular trip to the airport and another addict from Philly suggested we get a different place's cheesesteak, so we got it to try. It wasn't as good as where we always go for our cheesesteaks but good to try something different. Just like the five tools though what works always works. It did give us an opportunity to drive through Philly and see some of it we wouldn't have seen otherwise. We gave a quick tour to the one addict of the historic district and the stadiums as they hadn't been in Philly before. Now we drove to Hamburg to the conference.

When we got there, we were told we were too early. We were asked to come back later so we drove to a place formed by the glaciers years ago that isn't far from the camp. We also stopped at Dietrichs before going there and got what we wanted for the conference. It was great having more time to Fellowship before the conference as we waited for it to be opened. Something as simple as this showed me, I am in the right place to recover. Addicts can get very moody and make something as simple as that to surrender all about themselves, but instead the addicts were with rolled with the punches, accepted it and moved on. That is a lot different from how it was before. I believe going out in nature and seeing a wonder like we saw helped us put things in perspective also.

Not long and we were told to come back to the conference. It was great getting there and greeting those who were there already. The uncomfortable feelings I normally have at the beginning of social events like the FSC were much less than in the past. This is a sign of growth and also a sign of hope. The rest of the conference was a blur as it seemed to go so fast. We had the usual format of hearing the Group reports and the excitement that is happening all over the world. It is amazing to hear what is happening and to see how we can be a part of something bigger than ourselves. Hearing Groups share that have had the privilege of joining online at times or even in person when possible. We sat around the bonfire at night and had great Fellowship growing closer together. There is something about being around a fire that helps us open up and get more vulnerable with one another. It was a great FSC and the story of the drive home was exciting also. That is for another time though. Don't miss out, be there next year in Hamburg PA.

FSC Experience

Had a great time and never felt more at home around a group of people I just met. We came together for a good purpose. I learned a lot and met some amazing people. I felt the service work was done in a way that was God centered. Even when it got down to business everyone was practicing the principles of this beautiful program which allowed a natural flow. Very grateful for my experience there and grateful for the addicts before me to keep this alive so I can learn from them. This was my first time attending the fsc, i cannot wait to attend next year's.

Times Have Changed

One thing that irritates me is how so often addicts that have been around compare the past to the present. Now don't get me wrong, I believe we need to know our past so we can grow from it and not repeat the parts we don't want to repeat. We also need to know our past so we do repeat what we appreciate. The comparisons I am talking about are the parts of the Gray Book that most don't do anymore. I know it is happening in the Netherlands. I know I still do what it says over here. When addicts share things like "no one travels hours to help other addicts today" when I literally just drove long distances to see them, that is annoying. I realize my irritation is my ego and wanting to say look at what I am doing. I believe it goes further than that though. I believe it is the loser's point of view trying to get inside all addicts. If we keep focusing on what we don't like and never get into the solutions nothing will change. Of course we can only do this one addict at a time as trying to control addicts is worse than trying to herd cats. So I just want to thank those that are leading by example and staying focused on what we can change.

ANONYMI FOUNDATION

The Anonymi Foundation is an entity owned wholly by the NA Home Groups and is directed by the ASIS Conference. To date the Anonymi Foundation is not a corporation as the Group have not given instruction for the foundation to incorporate. Its purpose is to copyright Traditionalist literature in the name of the Groups who create and direct the Alternate Service Informational Structure. The Anonymi Foundation does not register literature in the name of the foundation. The Groups themselves own the literature. We do not need anyone to hold our literature for us because member-addicts of those Home Groups are the trustees of the literature those very Groups write. The beneficiary of the literature is the still-suffering addict as well as any addict seeking freedom from active addiction. The Anonymi Foundation does have an elect agent, however that agent has no power to act on anything without being directed to do so by the NA Groups through the annual conference of the Alternate Service Informational Structure.

ANONYMI

A world-wide NA Home Group designed to provide our trusted servants (whose service has sometimes isolated them from their local groups) with the love and understanding they need to survive.
